

What to Bring

Clothing:

The weather in Patagonia is constantly changing. One afternoon it may be 75° F and sunny, changing a few hours later to rain, wind and temperatures in the low 50's. It is not uncommon to have morning temperatures in the upper 30's & lower 40's with the afternoon warming up to 60° F. With this being the case, the "layering system" is the best strategy to stay comfortable. This way we can adapt to whatever Mother Nature dishes out.

We recommend starting off with polypropylene next to your skin. This is often a pair of thermal underwear. Try and stick to synthetic or synthetic wool blend as this will take moisture away from your body.

Your second layer or alternative layer could be a medium to heavy weight wool or polypropylene shirt or sweater. Fleece garments are also a great choice.

Your third layer, if even needed, can be a fleece or wool jacket.

Your final layer will be the most important. It is the rain jacket of your choice. We recommend high quality Gore-Tex type products. These products work best and will protect you from both wind and rain. Waxed cotton jackets are also a fine choice. Anglers should also bring a few pair of heavy wool socks. We recommend that you try on your socks with your waders in your wading boots before coming to insure that you have plenty of room to move your toes. Being unable to move your toes and cramping of your feet in your boots are the biggest reasons for numb toes and cold feet.

Wading Equipment:

Stocking foot waders are the best way to go. Neoprene waders have their place and work well, but Gore Tex / breathable waders have totally revolutionized wading equipment. They will allow your lower body to "breathe" helping to reduce moisture build up, keeping you warmer. They are also very comfortable to fish in all day. To stay warm in Gore-Tex waders simply wear fleece pants underneath. Lastly, Gore-Tex waders take up a fraction of the space that neoprene waders do, leaving you more room in your duffel bag.

Wading boots should be felt soled for superior ankle support and gripping on the river rocks.

Please no studs or cleats as they are very hard on our rafts and boats.

Additional recommended fishing equipment and gear:
